DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 35, 40, 41-43, and 52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 35, 40, 41-43, and 52 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being incomplete for omitting essential steps, such omission amounting to a gap between the steps. See MPEP § 2172.01. The omitted steps are: a step of synthesis of a zinc finger protein. The rejection would be overcome by amending the preamble of claims 35, 42, and 43 to be drawn to a method of designing a zinc finger protein.

Claim 43 recites the limitation "third triplet in the target site" in line 14 and lines 17-18. There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 35-40, 42, and 43 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Desjarlais et al. (reference DK in the information disclosure statement filed 02 April 2001).

Art Unit: 1631

The claims are drawn to a method of designing and synthesizing a zinc finger protein comprising three zinc fingers by using a database that comprises a plurality of zinc finger protein sequences in which the zinc finger domains are correlated with their respective DNA binding target.

Desjarlais et al. shows a database in figure 1 that comprises two zinc finger protein sequences and correlates each of the three zinc finger domains with a DNA binding target. Desjarlais et al. shows in figures 3 and 4 that after synthesis, the zinc finger proteins bind to their expected DNA target.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 48 and 49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Desjarlais et al. (reference DK in the information disclosure statement filed 02 April 2001).

The claims are drawn to computer programs and computers that perform a method of designing a zinc finger protein comprising three zinc fingers by using a database that comprises a plurality of zinc finger protein sequences in which the zinc finger domains are correlated with their respective DNA binding target.

Desjarlais et al. shows a database in figure 1 that comprises two zinc finger protein sequences and correlates each of the three zinc finger domains with a DNA binding target. Desjarlais et al. shows in figures 3 and 4 that after synthesis, the zinc finger proteins bind to their expected DNA target. Desjarlais et al. does not show computers and programs that assemble and utilize their database.

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to automate the generation and use of their database because it is obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to automate a process (see MPEP 2144.04).

Double Patenting

9. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

An obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but an examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined claim is either anticipated by, or would be obvious over, the reference claim(s). see, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985).

10. Claim 41 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claim 1 of U.S. Patent No. 6,453,242. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the differences between the instant and issued claims are minor in nature.

Art Unit: 1631

11. Claims 35, 41, 48, 49, and 52 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 22, 32, 44, and 46 of copending Application No. 10/113424. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the copending claims are species of instant claims 35, 48, and 49 and have only minor differences with instant claims 41 and 52.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
